

This is a Chapman Stick...
At first it looks like a guitar... It's not!

The first time I saw one was in my home town in Canada a little over 20 years ago.

We were doing a jam session at a downtown bar and this gal came in with a well known musician and he wanted us (and the audience) to hear this instrument and introduced Dale Ladouceur to us.

Although most of the guys had been around for a long, long time... we were not familiar with the Chapman Stick!... we introduced Dale to the audience and let them know that we all in for something new to us... it was absolutely neato!

This instrument was developed in California by a man named Emmett Chapman... sad to say that Emmett passed away recently and his daughter is taking over the company.

I have been thinking of getting Dale Ladouceur to come down and do a concert but I think it may be a while until something with a fairly large seating area (like the Auditorium in Ajijic) opens back up. Look up Chapman Stick in Google and maybe listen to a few tunes... neat instrument!

Always Have Fun!!

This is a LIVE EVENT, not a screening, like someone wrote in the Guad Reporter! Also, the playwright/actor will be hosting a talk-back after each show so people can ask him all kinds of questions. We think that the false article has people thinking it's going to be like a National Theatre Live show, which it isn't and we want to make sure people know this. Your email list is massive and really helps.

Message from Collette Clavadetcher of LLT.

Also, while masks are required and people are asked to show proof of one vaccine, people can also attend if they can show a negative COVID test within 24 hours of the show.

It's an award winning play and a unique opportunity to see the play and speak to the playwright about it!
