Stunning Production of These Shining Lives raises the bar at The Bare Stage

Powerful drama directed by Phyllis Silverman earned standing ovations and presages what may be an even higher level of dramatic quality

Patrick O’Heffernan – English Editor. The audience at last Saturday’s production of These Shining Lives at the Bare Stage Theater in Riberas sat in stunned silence for a few seconds when the play ended and then gave it a standing ovation. The production, which told the story of the “radium girls” who painted watch faces with radium for a company that hid the effects of “miracle chemical” on their health even as they wasted away and filed suits and labor actions that changed worker safety law in the US, was that powerful.

Although These Shining Lives was a “readers theater” in which the actors sit on stools onstage and read from scripts, it was as riveting as a fully staged play. The delivery of the lines, the actors, assumption of the characters, and the careful pacing and direction produced a drama with the impact of a fully staged production.

Director Phyllis Silverman worked for two years on the play, since the last production at the Bare Stage in 2020 before it was closed by Covid. During that time she assembled a cast she recruited reflected the outstanding talent in Lakeside, paired them for a chemistry that seems impossible for a staged reading but which was palpable – especially between Frank Lynch and Linda Goman as a loving husband and wife – and pulled emotions from them that literally filled the open-air theater.

That chemistry between the actors was a throughline in the relationships among the other radium girls – Darlene Sherwood, Louise Ritchie and Giselle Phipps evolved as their characters unfolded their souls and Graham Miller revealed the evil of the corporate soul of the watch factory.

Bare Stage Artistic Director Roseann Wilshere has spectacularly elevated the already good quality of drama at the theater with These Shining Lives, attracting actors and a director and selecting scripts that appeal to the theatrical audience in Lakeside, but push the boundaries and demand more from them than passive consumption.

The upcoming (April 22nd, 23rd & 24th) production of the Norm Foster comedy The Long Weekend, promises to maintain the level attained by These Shining Lives. Wilshere’s judgment in choosing a play by Canada’s most produced playwright, frequently compared to American playwright Neil Simon, not only reflects a continuation of the quality brought to the Bare Stage by These Shining Lives, but is a smart nod to our Canadian neighbors.

Wilshere has assembled a team with solid talent - Kathleen Morris, (last seen in LLT’s production of Silent Sky), Sally Jo Bartlett, Pamela Johnson, Douglas Pinkerton & Ken Yakiwchuk. Tackling a comedy – a very hard medium to work in – after raising Lakeside’s expectations of high quality, will be a challenge. If These Shining Lives is any example, The Bare Stage could just raise the bar again.

Lakeside Little Theatre is proud to present Season 58, a full season of five MainStage shows and a variety of Playhouse events.

Our MainStage season line-up, including plays and dates, was announced at our AGM on March 16, 2022. In case you weren't there, check out our poster below for show titles, performance dates, and directors.

As the summer progresses, details for each event will be on our website at www.lakesidelittletheatre.com, including audition dates and casting plans. Auditions will also be announced via email and press as the dates approach.

SEASON & PRICING:

We made a decision this year to change our line-up to include five shows, rather than six as in years past. This decision was driven by our commitment to providing the highest quality of entertainment value possible, and our recognition of the ongoing scarcity of resources, especially technical and backstage talent.

We have not adjusted Season Ticket or show prices in years, and to accommodate overall increased costs in show production, we have adjusted our prices as follows.

Season Ticket, including a reserved seat at each of 5 MainStage shows, and a 300 peso theatre membership - remains at 1300 pesos.

Individual MainStage show tickets - 350 pesos for regular shows, 400 for the musical.

Season ticket sales will be announced in the summer and we are planning that these can be purchased online rather than going to the box office.

A season ticket affords you a savings of 100 pesos on each show plus a free membership!

I went a little heavy for The Bare Stage this week... they put on very enjoyable plays... kind of like sitting back years ago listening to a drama on radio. Very interesting selection of readings that I am positive you will enjoy!

Take care and have a great week!

See you somewhere... SOON!
